1. The former development branch in Falkenstein of the C. Lorenz A. G. in Radeberg is now on the previous site of the Sachsenwerk and became the property of the State of Saxony after dismantling for the Soviets had been completed.
2. Orders placed with the firm include the development and delivery for reparations of measuring instruments (Messgeräte and Messanordnungen) for high frequency and ultra-high frequency work, valued at RM 1,500,000. Other projects for the SMA Dresden, as directed by members of the SKTB under Major Henwen, include the development of apparatus for time-modulated telephony (Sprachübertragung mit Zeitmodulation) and for scrambling (Geheimhaltungsverfahren).
3. About twelve engineers are engaged in this work (six of these are rated as good second-class). There are in addition about eighty mechanics of the previous C. Lorenz A. G., with another 150 new mechanics from Radeberg (mainly KPD). About 150 machines, lathes, etc., adaptable to all development tasks and small mass-production, are available to the firm.
